MEN'S EASTER CLOTHING.

Clothing of Style and Elegance.

PUTTING buttons on cuffs isn't style. Twisting pockets out of plumb isn't style. Style is elegance. Many men have it, especially here in Washington. Elegance of manner, of carriage. And these men impart style to their clothes. But, then, they pick the stylish clothes. Again, style is distinguishing excellence. This, coupled with elegance, is the style of our clothes. A style which stays new, fresh, and satisfactory, of which you never weary or have regrets, about which there can never be any criticisms.

We are ready to take the matter up with you relative to your new Spring Suit—which means that our stock is now at the height of completeness. But whether you are ready or not, drop in and let us show you the new spring fashions—and show you also what style and elegance really are.

Men's Suits, $15.00 up.
Young Men's Suits, $10.00 up.

Accepts Invitation to Be Present at Mass Meeting on June 7.

President Taft will attend the mass meeting of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church in this city June 7, at Luther Place Memorial Church. He expressed regret yesterday that he would be unable to accept the invitation of W. W. Freeman, president of the National Electric Light Association, and Gen. George H. MANTELL AS RICHELIEU.

Shakespearean Player Presents Bulwer-Lytton's Masterpiece.

Perhaps no role in Mr. Mantell's long repertoire of plays gives him the chance to display his wonderful versatility as that of "Richelieu." Bulwer-Lytton's masterpiece, admirably presented at the Belasco Theater last evening before a large audience. Mr. Mantell's interpretation of the character of the great cardinal, a finished artistic portrait, free from the ranting and overacting which has marred the conception of so many actors. Suppression is the keynote of his whole performance, and he works up to the larger climaxes with a decisive sureness which lends naturalness to his more impassioned speeches. Throughout he shows the humor and cunning of the great statesman, but his moments of pathos are perhaps his greatest. Taken altogether, his Richelieu is a brilliant piece of acting, which ranks with the best. Of his support, Miss Marie Booth Russell as Julie, Mr. Alfred Hastings as Joseph, and Mr. Fritz Leiber as Adrian were especially well cast.

In the afternoon the Mantell company presented "As You Like It," one of the Shakespearean comedies which will never grow old. The performance was notable chiefly through the fact that it marked the initial appearance of Miss Marie Russell in the role of Rosalind. It was easily the best performance of the part of the capricious, self-willed heroine that has been seen in this city for a long time, and if Miss Russell succeeds in improving on it in any great degree she will surprise those who thoroughly enjoyed her work yesterday.

It was a pity that Mantell's Orlando was too old by some thirty years for the younger brother and sister, who were unable to hide his age to any great degree. One could not help but wish that Fritz Leiber, cast as Jacques, had changed places with the star for this one performance. Others in the company whose work was noticeable were J. Sawyer Crawley, who will be remembered for his work here with the "Greets" last summer at the Belasco, and Miss Agnes Scott, as Celia. A welcome innovation was the doing away with the intermissions.

To-night Mr. Mantell will present "Othello," supported by Mr. Charles R. Hanford, who will play the title role.

OLD INHABITANTS SELECT A MASCOT

Boy Who Gave a Dollar Honored at Meeting.

WILL BE IN EVIDENCE JULY 4

Dedication of New Quarters in Engine House on Independence Day. Some Concern Shows Over Non-payment of Premium on Fire Insurance—Good Financial Showing.

From announcing that everything is in readiness for the dedication on July 4 of its new quarters, in the old Union Engine House, to the election of a mascot, the election of a vice president, and the re-adjustment of a much-muddled state of affairs regarding the fire insurance on the building, business was rushed through at a rapid rate by the Association of Old Inhabitants at its meeting last night.

Judge C. S. Bundy, chairman of the building committee, announced that $2,750.00 of the required $3,000 for the remodeling of the Union Engine House, to be used as the permanent quarters of the association, has been collected, and that there is still $250 to be collected. He said it was the intention of the building committee to have everything in readiness for the dedication of the quarters by July 4, and arrangements will be completed with J. C. Yost, the architect, as to the proper remodeling of the place.

Gift Appreciated.

Just to show that the association thoroughly appreciates the gift of Fred Stafford, a ten-year-old boy, who subscribed $1 to buy a brick for the new building, he was unanimously elected mascot of the association, and will take an active part in the dedication exercises.

There was a considerable stir among the members when it was learned that no fire insurance had been paid on the building since March 12, the policy not being renewed.

Several members cautioned the association against the danger of not having the building properly protected against fire, with a result that when the new quarters are established it will be amply equipped with fire-escapes. The treasurer was instructed to pay the premium on the back policy.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

A reading of "The Piper," by the author, Josephine Preston Kresley (Mrs. Lionel Marks), will be given this afternoon at 4:30 in the New Willard ballroom, under the auspices of the League of the Covenant. This play was awarded the prize by the Shakespeare Memorial Theater at Stratford-on-Avon, last July, out of 115 plays submitted, and was recently presented with great success at the New Theater in New York.

No announcement made by a local musical purveyor this season has created more excitement and interest than the news of the coming engagement of the famous French Grand Opera Company, of New Orleans, at the Belasco Theater next week has brought forth. The French Opera House and its company have been long associated with the traditions of the Crescent City, and seem part and parcel of New Orleans life. No trip to the Southern metropolis is ever complete without an evening spent at the French Opera House. That music lovers of this city will be able to hear this famous organization at home is a bespeaks great credit to Manager L. Stoddard Taylor, and that he will be rewarded for his enterprise in bringing the French Opera Company to Washington this season for a brief engagement goes without saying. The scale of prices will range from 50 cents to $2.

A thrilling trip in a dirigible balloon over the magnificent peaks of Switzerland is one of the pictures presented and patrons of the Columbia Theater next week, when the Lyman H. Howe "New York Hippodrome Travel Festival" will present a new and absorbing programme. The engagement begins Sunday afternoon and will continue, with daily matinees, until the following Sunday evening. Among other pictures are a ride on the swiftest motor boat in the world, the Ursula, of 800 horsepower; a tour through London, Indo-China, and the Gorges de l'Ardèche, in France; the construction and launching of an ocean palace, the White Star liner Olympic; spectacular demolition of big buildings in Messina; landing passengers in a rough sea at Tunis; a dangerous though bloodless bullfight in Spain.

Chase's next week will present a joyous and melodious bill, introducing Amelia Stone, the famous comic opera prima donna, and Armand Kalitz, the celebrated French tenor, former stars of "The Waltz Dream" and other recent successes. They will offer a dainty, romantic comic opera, "Mon Amour," book by Edgar Allen Woolf, lyrics and music by Armand Kalitz. The extra added comedy attraction will be the character actor, Jere Gray supported by pretty Edith Luckett, a Washington comedienne, in "The Butterfly," a farcical stage life episode. A musical and lyrical treat will be afforded by George Lyons and Bob Tosco, as "the happiest of the wisest." A travesty on the trials and tribulations of globe-trotting, called "Traveling," will be played by the Monroe Hopkins and Lola Arrell company. A sensational exhibition of dexterity with the deadly Australian stock whip will be made by Jack and Violet Kelly. Little Billy will add his ill-fated diversions, Julian and Dyer, the winged ring grotesque, will show the daylight motion pictures of the pictorial Biblical drama, "The Deluge," are the concluding numbers.

The Gayety Theater has for its attraction next week "The College Girls," in a musical comedy full of college spirit and catchy songs. Florence Mills, as the college widow, provides much of the merry entertainment. She sings many of the latest musical hits of the season. Harry Mason, in the role of a German cheese manufacturer, and George B. Scanlon, as the corn-beef king, keep the audience in a roar of laughter. The production is original in every respect, and the scenic effects are said to be well worth seeing.

Miner's "Jardin de Paris Girls" will be the offering at the New Lyceum next week. They will present a two-act musical comedy entitled "Jagville," which is said to contain a wealth of bright comedy and catchy songs. One of the special features is Tom Miner's "Merry Minstrel Maids," which will be fifteen minutes of old-time minstrelsy by the entire company. The olio will comprise such well-known variety pieces as the acrobats and Marian Campbell, Augusta Phelps, the Broadway Comedy Quartette, Those Three English Boys, George Scott, Helen Lawton, and the Misses Harris and Harvey Mason, in the attraction, Cora Livingston, the female wrestler, has been secured.

The feature act of the vaudeville bill at the Casino Theater next week will be the famous Bristol's ponies, one of the headline acts of the New York Hippodrome last winter. This act includes ten ponies, who demonstrate unusual intelligence and careful training by numerous tricks and intricate evolutions, three trunk horses and a mule, which furnishes most of the comedy. Other acts include Dunn, Warren and Mack, in a comedy sketch; Sheperdy Brothers, Harry Rose, ventriloquist; Ed. Estus, an equilibrist; Blanche Buford, singing comedienne, and the motion picture plays.

One of the novelty acts of the season is billed for the Cosmos for next week—the Dantes in their own creation, a "Jullyanna" musical. The act is said to be a complete mystery, and would seem to be a combination of black art, magic, and humor. A comedy musical act of more than ordinary ability and merit will be presented by Tnean and Clayton, Belle and Mayo in a classy singing and character change act, Billy Fogarty, the Boy in White; Wilson and Aubrey, in a comedy bar and ring athletic novelty, and Elsa Ford, the "Original"

Interest in the concert to be given at the Columbia Theater Easter Monday afternoon, April 17, at 3 o'clock, by Victor Herbert and his orchestra, is more actively manifesting itself in the demands for seat reservations being filed with the Radcliffe bureau. Few cities in the country are better acquainted with Mr. Herbert, both as a composer and director, than Washington, where his coming invariably brings out a distinguished audience. The soloist for the Washington concert will be Eleonora de Cimeros, whose work with the Chicago and Philadelphia grand opera companies during the past season brought her into prominence.

The success of the "Smart Set" at the New Howard this week has created a demand for a second week of this interesting musical comedy. The work of S. H. Dudley and company of forty odd colored singers and dancers make this one of the best shows of its kind. The singing and dancing of Miss Alda Overton Walker are special features.

WASH THAT ITCH AWAY.

It is said there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you knew that by washing in those waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would you not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town.

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as compounded only by Dr. J. D. Erickson will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

Best possible wash for pimples and all skin eruptions.

If you have not already tried it, get at least a 25-cent bottle to-day. We assure you of instant relief.
